

ALL PARENTS SHOULD ATTEND

President of the Lakeside Kiwanis, Barkdull, advised the STAR through Phil Harris, that he received a letter from Chief Probation Officer Chas. Rogers, confirming the fact that he or a member of his staff will address the Kiwanis, Sept. 26, and show a film, the Story of a Teenage Drug Addict.

An hour will be devoted to the showing of the film including preliminary remarks and answers. The growth of drug addiction among the nation's youth, makes this film something, all parents should make an effort to see and study.

The film will be shown immediately after the dinner meeting, at 12:30 p. m., when the hall will be thrown open to the public.

Local Business Man In Accident

S. E. Brannaman, local Saddle and Boot proprietor, was involved in a spectacular auto accident on Sunday afternoon when a car driven by sailors crashed into his truck and also piled up four other cars. The driver was cited for driving while intoxicated. Mr. Brannaman was knocked unconscious and also received further injuries. His truck was badly damaged.

What is meant by the right place at the right time, is shown above, where tall, dark, and handsome, better known to his associates as the Right Hon. Otis Barker, is handing the smiling lady a free bag of groceries, just because she happened to be just exactly in the right place at the right moment, during the Harvest Sale. From the smiles, donor is as happy as recipient.

In checking various editorials, appearing in papers over the nations, I'll pass on a few gems to our readers. They express many thoughts, and whether you agree with them they are food for thought.

HOW MANY "MILES" IN A WASHINGTON EASY CHAIR?

Just how much work does it take in order for a bureaucrat to wear out a government desk in four to five months? The question is a fair one, since the federal General Services administration, caught with 11,000 steel and wooden desks hidden away in barns, warehouses and abandoned factories, excuses itself for this gigantic stockpile by asserting blandly that "wear and tear on government desks makes them replaceable in four to five months."

Gosh! What activity there must be in government offices. In most offices, a desk is something which lasts a lifetime. This department has seen some mighty busy offices, and yet has never heard of private business wearing out desks in four or five months, or even four or five years. Not even filing cabinets from which official documents were being removed by the New Deal.

But there is always something new under the sun, or under the roof of a government office building; and we check it up to desk people to run a service test on their products in bureaucratic offices. For if federal desks will not last longer than four to five months, how low indeed must be the "mileage" on Washington easy chairs?

MONKEY BUSINESS

The U. S. is sending grain to India to relieve famine. One of the reasons why the people of India are so short of food is because millions of monkeys ravage the grain fields. According to Horace Holmes, expert for the State and Agriculture Departments, the monkey menace is unchecked because the Indians regard the animals as sacred and untouchable.

The U. S. also is spending millions in an effort to increase food production in the East and Middle East. There is monkey business of a sort involved here, too, according to Arkansas's Senator Fulbright, in the type of "help"

BERDUX CHEST CHAIRMAN

With Wm. J. Berdix as general chairman, the Lakeside Winter Gardens annual Community Chest appeal will open October 15.

This was announced at a meeting of Lakeside Welfare association, held under chairmanship of Supt. Elmer Walker, Monday afternoon in Lakeside Grammar school. Leighton Dingley, representing Community Chest headquarters, was a speaker.

Each organization in the community is being asked to send a representative to the next meeting, October 3, 7:30, at which Community Chest organization will be the principal order of business.

Harvey Huffman was the efficient general chairman last year. The Chest policy is to rotate this volunteer task in each community every year, to build up a group of "elder statesmen" with Chest executive experience, and to prevent one person from giving of his time and talents until it becomes a burden.

On hand for the Oct. 3 session will be the cards of previous contributors for a guide in solicitations by the many workers whose talents combine to assure success of the appeal; workers' kits, and other essential material.

Before that date cards will be distributed by Boy Scouts, for display in down town stores, advising the public of the appeal dates.

Last year Lakeside Winter Gardens was credited with local contributions of $1388. The Community Chest expenditures were $2388.01, handled through the Lakeside Welfare, and for local persons enjoying San Diego Chest sponsored activities as provided by recreational agencies, clinics, visiting nurses, Family Service Association, care in such institutions as the Children's Convalescent Hospital and Children's Home Society; group programs like the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and County YMCA, and help at the office of the Public Attorney.

The total needs of the entire county, including the City of San Diego, for 1952, have been carefully estimated as $851,000, including $62,332 for USO and Korean relief, which are new items.

Raynor DeBurn, local Real Estate broker, has been appointed as the County towns co-ordinator representing the Community Chest Headquarters in San Diego.

proffered. He has particularly criticized the State Department for providing primitive Persian farmers with mechanized farm machinery which they couldn't possibly make use of—such as self-propelled harvesting combines at $4500 each.

Such a machine, protests the Senator, is wholly unsuited to Persian agriculture, such as it is. There isn't even space for turning it around on many of the tiny tilled plots of ground! It could only stand in the field and rust.

Monkey business in both industries—waste, fertility and bad will. The monkeys eat the Indian grain; rust gets the $4500 machines—and, naturally, the American taxpayer foots the bill.

HIRE AND HIGHER!

The Federal government is hiring more and more civilian employees despite the fact that we are close to a manpower shortage. The very fact that we may be short of workers when the defense program hits its full stride seems to have inspired Federal bureaucrats with a zeal for "stockpiling" a few thousand employees every week. The last total we saw was 2,439,500 civilians on the Federal payroll, with new hiring at the rate of 1,500 per day.

And it's the same with plans for civil works projects, some of which may get a face-lifting to make them look like military projects. Bureaucrats want to obligate the government for more than a billion dollars to build "plants and facilities for war production purposes." Private industry is fully capable of handling much more than present war production.

Pay-as-we-go taxation to keep the national debt from swamping the whole economy would be much easier if the bureaucrats would abandon such socialistic schemes. But they won't abandon them until the American public demands it—and firmly.

RUBBER RIDDLE

"America has an abundant supply of rubber," "America is Senate Armed Services subcommittee declared in an alarmed tone: "We must stockpile and conserve rubber as though our very lives depended on it" and urged further cutbacks in rubber. (Continued on Page 10)

Anyone employing a minor under the age of 18 should make sure that a valid permit is issued before permitting the employment to continue.

A Continuation School program, especially designed to meet the needs of those who are working full time and who wish to qualify for a work permit, has been set up at Grossmont High School under the direction of Mr. George Washington. Classes emphasize citizenship training and vocational subjects. This school will begin operations on Saturday, Sept. 22, stated Mr. Washington. More Civilians Needed for Plane Spotters

Many more patriotic Valley citizens are urgently needed as civilian volunteer plane spotters in the state-organized observer corps if the valley is to contribute its share to western air defense.

The world situation being what it is, we want to urge all citizens who can help to become acquainted with this phase of our state preparedness by giving some of their time to ground observer activities.

Ground observers report aircraft flights over their particular areas to the filter center which is located in Santa Ana. The filter center plots the reported flights on a huge grid map and, when a sufficient number of reports are received on a specific flight, the filter center establishes a "flight track." The track is then reported to the air force for interception by jet planes.

Ground observer posts are organized to supplement the air force radar system, because radar cannot penetrate opaque masses such as mountains, discern the dropping of paratroopers and bombs or other such hostile acts.

Teenagers who have reached the age of 16 years will be eligible.

The next "test exercise" will take place at the Santee post on September 23rd from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. It has been approximately six months now since the first test was made and much has been accomplished since then.

For any information phone Floyd England, c/o Shell Service Station, Santee, H4-7127. Mr. England has taken Mr. Monti's place due to a serious illness suffered by Mr. Monti a couple weeks ago.

Farm Bureau Drive Set for Oct. 17

The enthusiasm of the campaign which the Lakeside Farm Bureau Center is to conduct on October 17 for new members was indicated today by the large number of leaders who are spearheading the drive.

In each of the county's 10 Farm Centers, teams of volunteer solicitors have been organized to take to the field on October 17, designated as "Farm Bureau Builder's Day," to contact each farm family and invite them to join the organization.

Similar campaigns will be conducted that day by the other 53 County Farm Bureaus which comprise the California Farm Bureau Federation, giving the program a statewide character.

Crusade for Freedom

Calling upon patriotic men, women and children throughout the county to enroll in the 1951 Crusade for Freedom, Edward T. Austin, columnist and public relations man for Rohr Aircraft, set up campaign headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce at 499 West Broadway, San Diego. Beatrice Shaw, director of public information for the 1950 Red Cross Drive, is in charge of the office.

The Crusade for Freedom's 1951 Motorcade will visit San Diego county Sept. 25 and 26. A feature of the program will be a demonstration of how Radio Free Europe, Radio Free Asia, the Freedom Bell and the "Winds of Freedom" balloons carry the truth behind the Iron Curtain. Propaganda balloons like those which on August 14 carried more than two million freedom messages into Czechoslovakia will be released during an hour-long program. The first of these will be at the Civic Center in San Diego at noon Sept. 25. Next the Motorcade will visit the South Bay area, with a program at Chula Vista from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. On Sept. 26 the Motorcade goes to Escondido for a show at noon and will appear in Oceanside for an afternoon performance from 3:30 to 4:30.

Community Chest
Campaign Starts
October 15

San Diego's 1951 Community Chest campaign will be "different and completely re-vitalized." That's the pledge of civic leaders who announced the plans for the forthcoming drive. Opening date of the campaign is Monday, Oct. 15.

"Our 1951 Red Feather campaign is designed to make every San Diego County resident aware of the vital function of their Community Chest," Sam Hamill, Chest president, said. "This will be the most sweeping campaign in the history of this area." Key leaders of the drive are Harley E. Knox, former Mayor of San Diego, and Forrest Raymond, public relations and advertising director of San Diego Gas and Electric Co. Knox is Honorary Chairman and Raymond is Campaign Chairman.

The Chest's need for the coming year's activities is $850,000—a figure which represents the bare needs of the agencies. No closing date has been set for the Chest campaign, but "this will be the fastest campaign on record," Raymond said.

American Pen
Women Workshop

San Diego Branch, National League of American Pen Women, held a workshop at their opening meeting, September 19 at the San Diego Woman's Club from 2 to 4 p.m.

All members were asked to participate by exhibiting and discussing their most recent painting, composition, piece of ceramics or something on which they are now working. Tables were placed for exhibits.

Mrs. Mary Louise Busey and Mrs. Ether Mugan bush pleased with musical selections.

Chairman of the day was Mrs. Wilma Kruger. Hostesses were Mrs. Mary Louise Busey and Mrs. Mary M. Provonost.

At 1 p.m. there will be a business meeting for members.

Success Shown
For El Cajon
Songstress

A hint of the success she will eventually make is shown by the constant demand of San Diego audiences for the El Cajon songstress, Opal Edwina Lawson. Next Sunday she will sing her fifth concert at the Armed Services Y. M. C. A. in San Diego at 3 p.m.

Although only fourteen years old, critics say her work already shows a professional finish.

Her teacher, Fred Flannigan, who is also her manager has her booked for appearances well into next year.

COUNTY BOND GOAL SET

"San Diego County has been given a $2,000,000 goal for the two months campaign, and we can attain it by generating some of the enthusiasm that distinguished the bond campaigns of the war days," Philip L. Gildred, San Diego County area chairman stated.

He reported the payroll savings plan is increasing in popularity with workers, and stepped up activity in buying Series E bonds under the bond-a-month plan available at banks. The campaign, nationwide in scope, will continue through Oct. 27.

S. D. Philharmonic

To Conduct Fund Raising Drive

Soon we will begin the second season of the San Diego Philharmonic Symphony. We may be glad the orchestra survived its first season in spite of many trials, of course the greatest of these being the lack of funds. Dr. Leslie Hodge well demonstrated his ability as a conductor of great merit by giving us many outstanding concerts last year, being ably assisted by the willingness to work and the self sacrificing spirit of the members of the orchestra. Yet all their efforts would have been in vain had it not been for the people who realize that music is a part of any city's cultural assets, and who were willing to pay for the opportunity to hear good music.

However, it has been shown repeatedly by the experience of other cities that most symphony orchestras are constantly fighting to keep themselves out of the red. Some are partly maintained by funds allocated out of the state or city budgets; others are helped by individuals possessing great financial fortunes.

At present the San Diego Philharmonic Society is launching a fund raising campaign. Their slogan is: "Scrap Iron and Music for Defense." Our nation is in dire need of any scrap iron we can collect for defense purposes, and even as we know it takes work and co-operation of every citizen to support our increasing defense demands, we also know that "man does not live by bread alone" and that for many, music provides the ideal source of relaxation and spiritual rejuvenation.

With this twofold purpose in mind we are asking all public spirited citizens of the county to contribute any scrap metal they may possess, or to report any they may have noticed driving along our highways. Are you a farming family having an old rig rusting away in the back forty? Or do you know what the owner of the abandoned mine you saw on your last trip to the mountains intends doing with all the iron he has hanging around his place? If you can, find out; if not, at least report it to Mr. Robert Titus, Main 9762.

If you want immediate action in collecting the stuff, use the attached blank.

EL CAJON — An edict was issued here yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce giving the San Diego Chamber 24 hours to "bundle up their fog and get it out of our fair and fogless city."

It bore the signatures of Roger Beatty, president; Earl Baranov, vice president, and Freeman Durgin, secretary-manager, of the El Cajon Chamber. "I might have known the minute I turned by back that Stanley Grove (San Diego Chamber manager) and his bunch would be up to something like this," Durgin stormed, "and we ain't gonna stand for it."

"It's fantastic," Baranov said. "El Cajon citizens were out this morning playing in it like snow. I wouldn't have known what it was myself, except that I have a brother who lives in San Diego and he told me about it once."

Beatty was obstinate. "I don't want to wait 24 hours," he grumbled at the raging Durgin. "Tell 'em to get it out of here now, before people find out about it."

hind this fund raising effort. Beginning Nov. 6th, the Philharmonic Society will also present at the Loma Theatre programs of interest for the benefit of the symphony.

Nov. 6. Howard Wells, pianist. Mr. Wells is a pupil of the world famous Igor Stravinsky.

Jan. 4. Maggie Higgins, girl war correspondent in Korea. Miss Higgins has been featured in many of the nation's leading periodicals as the lady who could take it, much to the surprise of the gentlemen of the press and the delight of the G. I. Feb. 2. Dr. and Mrs. Max Krone. Dr. Krone is the Dean of Arts at the University of Southern California. He and Mrs. Krone have just returned from Iran, that much discussed country of oil and trouble. Their program will consist of a concert and lecture on native music and costumes. The season ticket for this series will be $5.00. Any one desiring to make reservations, please call Mrs. Herbert Martin, R-1490.

The Chamber of Commerce of the city of San Diego is fully behind this fund raising effort.

...IT LOOKS THIS WAY...

By Pat Duffy — H4-5446 or H4-5112
The general feeling on the gridiron between the Foothillers, under coach Bernard Nygren, and Helix High, under the management of Ken Maynard, seems to be that of out for blood.

Nygren who has been with the Los Angeles Rams and the Brooklyn Dodgers after graduating from San Jose State in '41, has the task of pitting his boys against the team that they worked right along side of last year.

(Bud) Nygren's crew seems to have the edge over the Helix Highlanders inasmuch as they should know how their ex-team-mates will react under fire. And what Ken Maynard taught those that will be with him this year, he also taught the veterans under Nygren. Both coaches are expected to come up with the two platoon system, and some other new tactics, but Nygren believes that Ken's team will use practically the same strategy as they did last year under Bogle. Also, GUHS has the bigger return of veterans and let-terms of the two schools.

Human Nature is a funny thing. How are the boys going to feel when they face their old buddies across a pig hide. Will both squads fight their best for victory, or will they go easy on each other for old times sake? Says Bud Nygren, "We are going out there to win or die trying, and know they (Helix) feel the same way."

The main-stem players for Helix this year are Howard Fackrell on the end, and quarterback Ernie Merk, veterans of Foothill battles.

The return-flight men at GUHS are linemen: Martin and Carr, ends; Scott and Bell, tackles; and centers Underwood (defensive) and Mirick (offensive). Archard and Brown are the letter-men holding down the back field.

San Diego State Correct Mistakes

Bill Schutte, San Diego State College football coach, is making like a washwoman this week, ironing out the mistakes his team made in a scrimmage Saturday with Naval Training Center's bruising Bluejackets.

He doesn't have too much time for his chores. The Aztecs leave Thursday for San Francisco where they will engage San Francisco State in their season opener Friday night.

That gives the Montezuma mentor only four sessions in which to show his linemen where they fell down in their failure to open holes in the Blue-jacket line and take out the defenders in the secondary.

Aztec halfbacks were swarmed under when hordes of beefy Boots poured across the line.

Schutte's big worry is whether he can get his young linemen ready for their Friday date.

"We have to depend on new boys to back up our starters in the line and it may take a couple of weeks to bring them all around," he said.

The Aztec air arm struck with devastating results Saturday. Quarterbacks Jesse Thompson and Paul Held and the halfbacks, throwing on their run-pass options, completed more than 60 percent of their pitches. But their ground game is the bread, butter and dessert, too, of the Aztec attack.

Making the offensive outlook even worse, four players — Fullbacks Bob Lyon and Jack Lyon and Halfbacks Murry Callan and Ed Fletcher — all are on the injured list.

Backfield positions are filled except for fullback. Halfbacks Barnes and Hale, and quarterback, Berg.

Unity of Purpose

"Full Partnership in the Job Ahead" is the theme of the 24th observance of National Business Women's Week from September 23 to 29 as announced by Mrs. Jennie Rodriguez, president of Foothill B. and P. W. Club at their meeting Monday evening. The members of Business and Professional Women's Clubs are asking women all over the country to join them in this observance, realizing that every woman as well as every man is needed to keep our nation strong and free. Women are needed in volunteer jobs in civil defense and community projects when they do not wish or are unable to undertake full time paid positions.

Mrs. Rodriguez presided at the business session which followed dinner served by Miss Janet Marshall and Miss Hazel Hunter at the home of Miss Marshall. The members exchanged amusing vacation experiences, and the evening closed with soprano solos by Dr. Gertrude Ryder accompanied by Mrs. Alma Miller, which led to impromptu group singing.

A CHANCE

The Constitution of the United States of America is a formulation of the basic principles of a way of life...our way of life. I am acquainted with people to whom the Constitution means only that they can sound off about the government and they can't for any reason, be jailed without a fair trial. They were in classes in school that taught what the constitution means, but they were too concerned with other things to realize how important those principles are to them and their children.

But that is an American right. They don't have to be patriotic if they don't want to. These people have no regard for human rights, and in some cases, for human life. If they want something, they take it, and to heck with the rest of the world. They don't believe in the God-given right of every human to speak and worship as they please and to live with out fear that their children will grow up in a world of slavery and chaos. All they are concerned with is the great ME! Anything that benefits them is good, but take something away from them and give it to someone who needs it more than they do, and they raise all manner of stink!

This class of Homo Sapiens is diseased. This disease is called GIMME.

"GIMME more pay!" "Gimme more profit!" "Gimme lot o' loot, but don't save anything for the poor and the blind. They don't need it! Survival of the fittest, that how it oughta be!" "Gimme anything!"

Those are the sounds of pain that you will hear from these sick people.

But when the freedom that they enjoy in this nation is threatened by criminals equally diseased with GIMME, they say, "Why should I fight? I can't do nothin' in this country but pay taxes and die! (And they usually die of over seating, a gastric condition brought on by GIMME.) Let somebody else get killed. NOT ME, brother." Or, "What the heck is the use of fighting! This country is going to the dogs! Why, even the guys that rae fightin' now don't know what they are fighting for! It ain't no use I tell ya. Just gimme a voice in the government and I'd show ya how to run a country. Gimme power! Gimme money!"

But the power of a nation is not in its wealth or loud talk. It is in the soul of the nation... the people. And the soul of America is sick. When the soul of a nation is a weak with sickness occurs, it is not the time to storm Washington and demand less taxes and more pay. That will only make the sore of gimme bigger. It is time for everyone to have an examination to see if a little gimme has rubbed off on him.

If it has, there is a sure cure. An ancient remedy called Give-To-Them! It never fails! America doesn't guarantee a handful of money, or a car in every garage, or below par taxes. No nation that is strong in its soul can guarantee that, nor can a politician infected with gimme. It does offer something much more important and satisfying, though. It offers everyone that can believe in the principles for which this nation was founded a chance to get that hateful of money or that car. A chance is all anyone with a will needs.

WHEN songs are sung about soup, it's likely to be tomato soup. This is the kind that "most folks like best"—no doubt including some of the folks at your house.

Take a can of condensed tomato soup and you're well on the way to a meal that pleases. It's the perfect warm-up dish for those first fall days when you feel a chill in the air. There's no end to the ways you can serve it. Hot tomato soup side by side with a double-decker sandwich. Soup and a big salad-bowl. Or just soup and crackers—followed by a thick wedge of apple pie with cheese.

At cooking time, too, you'll find condensed tomato soup is a handy item. Try it as the sauce for burgers or meat balls, as an ingredient in casseroles or meat loaf. Use the following recipe for a TOMATO MEAT LOAF: It gets double-benefits from soup which is used in the loaf and over it as a sauce.

Tomato Meat Loaf
1 pound ground beef
1/2 pound ground pork
1/2 cups soft bread cubes
1 can (1 1/2 cups) condensed tomato soup
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients, using only 1/2 cup of soup; set remaining 1/2 cup aside. Shape into a loaf on pack lightly into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 45 minutes. Pour remaining soup into pan and cook 15 minutes longer. Serve with hot tomato gravy. Makes 8 servings.

SCHOOL DAYS, SCHOOL DAYS: Headed back to school, with lunch boxes and books in hand, go your Susie and Johnny. Noontime will be a happy time for them when they open up a well-filled lunch box. For that first day, the menu might include two deviled eggs, a thermos bottle filled with hot soup, sandwiches of cheese and crackers, a big red apple, and a nickel-size bag of peanuts.

"SMALL BUSINESS" By C. WILSON HARDER

For the second time in less than six years the eyes of the world are turned toward San Francisco, as Japanese peace treaty sessions convene.

On the first occasion, the charter for a presumed unity of nations was drawn. But less than five years later world monopolies made it impossible to shut off supplies of war materials to those breaching the peace.

Again in San Francisco, C. W. Harder empty gestures prevail.

Before the present meeting occurred in San Francisco, Douglas MacArthur was removed.

Before the war, and until MacArthur took over occupation duties, 90% of all business, financial and commercial enterprise in Japan was controlled by the "zaibatsu," the eleven family monopoly that was linked with monopolies all over the world.

Under MacArthur's direction, the Japanese monopoly stranglehold was broken. Small business was encouraged; the spirit of economic independence came to Japan for the first time.

Long before the MacArthur matter reached headlines, a few big monopoly minded American corporations who had profitable relations with the Japanese super-monopoly before the war, were opposing his policies.

In the few short months since MacArthur left, Japanese monopolists, aided by these American corporations, have been working to destroy many of the anti-trust regulations that were set up to encourage free competitive enterprise in Japan.

Regardless of the oratory poured out in San Francisco, Japan could be headed toward one of two directions.

As it did at the time of Pearl Harbor either the "zaibatsu" will drive the country back to fascism, or underprivileged people will drive Japan to Moscow.

And so, the mass of the Japanese people may revert to feudalism because their champion of economic freedom was, unfortunately, subject to orders influenced by those desiring monopoly.

Unlike the average American, the average Japanese has no opportunity to protect himself from predatory monopoly.

In America the situation is different. There are champions of economic democracy seeking to protect the American way of life. All they need is the support of the people.

That is why today, the work of such groups as the Senate Small Business Committee headed by Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, is so vital.

Peace can only be a stranger in a world, where monopolies are permitted to ruthlessly grab control of all business.

In this nation, there are anti-trust and anti-monopoly laws. The same sinister forces of greed that are working to deprive the Japanese people of economic opportunity seek to destroy these laws.

So all the high flown oratory coming over the airwaves cannot gloss over this fact.

The biggest stride to world peace that can be made today is the restoration and protection of the health of American small business. Monopolies eventually offer nothing but bloodshed and death. There is no room for monopolies and democracy. One must perish.

SQUIRE EDGEGATE—There'll Be a Demand for Pet Dogs

LAKE SIDE SCHOOL DOINGS

MRS. LILLIAN SCHULER

After the first hectic week of the confusion of double sessioning and rearranged bus schedules, Lakeside's Schools settle down this week to the business of the year's work. Classes in both schools have been planning their activities for the year and adapting themselves to the new routines. At both Lindo Park School and Lakeside School class officers have been elected and the pupils have been setting up the groups of student citizens who help in making the activities of their schools run smoothly.

At Lakeside this morning an assembly, presented to sixth, seventh and eighth grade students, brought their student leaders before them to describe the activities. Linda McLean is student body president. Margie McClain is vice-president. Billy Stubbs is treasurer and Jeanette Koenning is secretary. Home room elections for Student Council members are to be held next week. The assembly also provided opportunity for spokesmen for student organizations to tell their classmates about clubs they are eligible to join.

In the classrooms at Lindo Park young students are working at becoming good school citizens. The newest citizens of the school, the boys and girls in kindergarten classes, under their teachers, Miss Helen Eriksson and Mrs. Dorothy Lyons, have been learning about safety on the bus and health at home and at school. They have been hearing stories about buses and drawing pictures of them. The first unit they will study will be aimed at orienting them to the school routine.

The pre-first class under Mrs. Margaret Kainu has been busy learning about Social Living. They have developed together a set of rules which are assisting them in keeping their class running smoothly, in assuring safety for everyone in their activities, and in making the best use of their school and the things they use in it, such as tables and chairs.

The first grade class of Miss Frances Giddings has appointed its class helpers. They have been enjoying a guinea pig named Blackie. They are learning about the home in their social studies, and are bringing interesting contributions to their science corner. They have a lizard, a praying mantis, a snake skin, and some wooly bears.

The first grade classes of Mrs. Helen Kriel, Miss Mary Thornton, and Mrs. Betty Hall are also working on orientation units about the school. Their first unit is about the home and how people live and work in the family. After that they will learn about animals and their homes.

In the second grade Mrs. Ester Whitely's class is beginning to study transportation. They are learning about safety on the buses, and they have been drawing buses. They are making a mural showing buses and the way cars must stop for school buses. Next they will study trucks, and the transportation system that brings us the food we eat.

Mrs. Helen Gould's class is learning about safety. They have been sharing many objects in science. They are going to learn more about boats and other transportation, and about weather in science. Mrs. Maxine Gideon's 42 students are studying transportation. This week they have been studying about the kinds close to us such as trucks, buses and automobiles. Later they will study trains, planes, boats and early methods of travel. They are also working on safety rules for room and playground.

The third grades under Mrs. Alwilda Emiling, and Mrs. Vivian Hanson are starting out the year learning about the Harbor and the seashore. Mrs. Rosalind Kroll's class is learning about sea life, too. They have been bringing abalone shells for vases, and they have decided they want to learn about safety, bees, shells, Indians, listening, writing and arithmetic. All of the third graders, since they are the oldest students in the school, are stressing setting a good example for the young children.

At Lakeside school the fourth grades are starting to learn about our neighbors in Mexico, and will work up to the climax of their unit before Christmas. Mr. Ralph Gardner's class are learning about Mexico and in science are studying plants and animals. Mrs. Ruby Nelson's fourth grade room has an interesting display of "made in Mexico" articles. They are studying about the Mexican's homes now, and the class is finding information about them in many books. They have learned that Mexico is a land of contrasts.

In Mr. James McPherrin's fifth grade class the first unit being studied is the discovery and exploration of America. They have started with a study of the Vikings. Mrs. Dessie LaCourse's fifth grade have been working on social studies and science, where they have been having spontaneous discussion and studying the heavenly bodies, and their movements. Palomar Observatory and Halley's Comet have been special topics of interest. Mrs. Neta Brown's class are learning about the early voyage of the Vikings, the voyage of Columbus and other explorers.

The pupils of Mr. Edward Clark's Special Training Class elected Mercy Rodriguez their president. The first unit for the class this year was "our room." They have started on the class arts and crafts program.

In the sixth grade Mr. James Peters' class are studying the use of animals and progress in transportation. In science they are learning about mammals. Mr. David Hanson's class are reviewing in geography, for their studies of transportation and (Continued on Page 10)

WOT GOES ON...

By Millie

Well folks, you can no longer say that you can't get anything for free these days, if you had breakfast at the Barker and Sons Grocery last Saturday morning. Those hot cakes and Prindle bacon, orange juice and delicious coffee were tops, and greatly appreciated by a working gal who has to rush around to even get a piece of toast these busy mornings. Some lucky people won large bags of groceries — no not me. In the long run you'll save money by trading at home. By the way don't forget you can do your week end shopping on Friday evenings now that so many of the merchants will stay open till 8 p. m., also the local bank.

Claude Weston is back on three milkings a day again after having had a short vacation while his assistant did the work, but what luck, his helper got sick and had to quit the dairy, so poor old Claude is working close to 18 hours a day again. Little wonder he never get to see him much any more.

Imagine, Walt Hartung has lost 13 pounds now installing meters in the Eucalyptus Hills, so he says. After this week they will have completed 48 of them. Of course, Herman Schiller is on the job too. Take it easy Walt or you'll shrink down to a mere shadow.

This corner is one awful noisy spot what with trucks, cars and school buses going past, can't hardly hear myself think. A lot of interesting people walk by and take a look in, some stop and others go on their worried way. It will help we know when we get a sign out in front letting us know just where our newspaper office is. In case you don't know, it's located at 241 S. Main Ave. next to the Lakeside Boot and Saddle Shop. Come in and give me your news items.

Those Optimists and Mrs' are on the ball again and busy getting their plans ready for the forthcoming Fall Festival. If you've never been to one of their barbecues or festivals, you better write it down on your calendar and make it a date, October 6th. Tickets are available from any members.

We know that T. G. Rogers, Chief Probation Officer will give the Kiwanis members a good time. He is invited to give an interesting facts in connection with narcotics. This is one subject we should all get acquainted with if we have our children's welfare at heart. Plan to be present on Sept. 26th at noon in Kiwanis Hall.

It just tickles me no end when some of our subscribers move to another town and request us to change their mailing address, and then before very long they are back in town and then we have to change our files again. Yep, there's no place quite like Lakeside and the more we see of other spots, the better satisfied we are right here. I know that Helen and Rudy Shellum, who are living in Havre, Mont., for awhile, must be anxious to get back and begin building that new home they plan on. The Woman's Club needs you too Helen, so don't stay too long.

If we don't get that car of ours back from Texas soon, I'm going to start out after it. Bad enough to have your one and only automobile stolen, but they don't have to keep it forever down there. Suppose the F. B. I. and Insurance company have to clear everything before they bring it back. Driving around in a Jeepster convertible gets to be a pain below the neck these foggy mornings.

The Community Church are planning to show a series of wonderful pictures beginning next Sunday evening at 8 p. m. Be sure to see the first of this series and we know you won't want to miss any of them.

From what I've been told, the schools are over crowded now, we wonder just what the answer to this problem is going to be. They say the kindergarten has a waiting list, so it looks like we are growing too big for our pants here in Lakeside. And with the shortage of steel, it isn't going to help the progress of the new buildings. Guess we'll just have to be patient till our School Board and Officials can iron the problem out.

You Farm Bureau Members are in store for a real treat coming up a week from Saturday, what with barbecued chicken going to be served, we know there will be a large turnout. Lakeside's Farm Bureau is known all around for it's good feeds.

See you next week neighbors.

THE EVENING CHIMES

The chimes that ring at eventide From the steeple, in town, so tall, A message it brings to everyone The old and young, the big and small.

The chimes that ring, though some hear not With tones that comfort falling on our ear As each old song we think of Him. And those we loved now seem near.

The chimes that talk with friends As each note falls in tune full order If you don't know who puts them there The lady's name is Mrs. Porter.

The chimes will ring for you today At home or on distant shore, If you will stop and listen close You will hear them more and more.

The chimes that ring so clear and soft For those whose name is memory..... Though they've gone to Higher ground Their ring will echo to eternity!

Parents' Problems

By DONALD M. MAYNARD

Early Adjustments

My eight-year-old son has attended private school but I have decided to send him to public school. My friends tell me there will be terrific adjustments for him to make and that he will need much guidance. Should I keep him in private school?

It is difficult to give a point-blank answer to your question without knowing more about the situation than the question reveals.

Is the public school to which you plan to send your son a good one? Is your boy normal in intelligence and in social adjustment? If your answer to these questions is in the affirmative, you are wise in planning to send your son to the public school. If the school in question is very undesirable and if your son already is somewhat maladjusted, it may be wise to keep him where he now is.

Of course, there will be difficult adjustments to make as your son goes to a new school. But, after all, isn't success in life largely dependent upon one's ability to adjust himself to all sorts and conditions of people? Isn't it far better that your son learn to make this adjustment now, while he is at home and under your sympathetic guidance, than at a later date? We can do too good a job of protecting our children from the realities of life.

Do not be too disturbed if during the first days of school he appears to be somewhat dissatisfied. He may even plead to be sent back to the private school. Be sympathetic and understanding, but don't yield to his plea. If, at the close of the year, he still is unhappy, assure him that you then will consider whether or not to return him to the private school.

Cutting Apron Strings

My oldest daughter is twenty-seven and the youngest is nineteen. The oldest is doing graduate work in a theological seminary. The youngest is at a great university. The ever-changing ideas of their minds, the amazing changes of their religious ideas, and their criticism of parental ideas, are sources of many heartaches. Please, is there any material available that can be of help and comfort to parents of "young adults" who yet want to help them?

I wonder if your problem does not lie in the fact that, without realizing it, you have failed to cut the apron strings that have bound your daughters to you. Evidently they have decided to do the cutting themselves and since you have not as yet acquiesced, they are now grown up and have their own lives to live, you are troubled and a bit resentful.

Let me urge you, therefore, to accept the fact that you have largely fulfilled your responsibility to your daughters and that from now on they are pretty much on their own so far as their ideas and decisions are concerned. This will not be easy, I know. Neither does it mean that they will not continue to seek your judgment—at times. (Incidentally, they are much more likely to seek it if you do not offer it gratis at every opportunity!) But your clue is to treat them as adults.

A final word. Not only let your daughters think and act for themselves, but rejoice when they do so. Don't act the martyr or pout or "suffer silently" when they disagree with you. Don't argue. Tensions will be reduced and you can begin really to enjoy your daughters. Grow up children, be fun, if we've cut the apron strings.

Displaced Babies

How may I get an older child to treat a baby with respect and tenderness?

First, be certain that you are giving the older child plenty of love and affection. She may feel that the baby has come between you, and that you no longer care for her as much as you formerly did. If so, it is almost inevitable that she should have a feeling of resentment toward the baby. Feeling as she does, it is not strange that she does not treat the baby with respect and tenderness.

To counteract this feeling, it is important that each day you arrange to have some time alone with the older child. During this time, don't talk about the baby; talk about her, her interests, and how proud you are of her. If you detect that she wants to be babied or cuddled, as she may, grant her desire. Feeling secure in your affection, she will be much more inclined to treat the baby with respect and tenderness.

The tattletale may feel neglected. Dr. Maynard says in his new booklet. It's free to readers of this newspaper. Mail a postcard to Donald M. Maynard, 810 Broadway, Nashville 2, Tennessee, and ask for your copy.

Second, do not constantly urge the older child to show more respect for the baby. Neither should you scold or nag her for not doing so. Whenever she does show a feeling of tenderness toward her, let her know how pleased you are. It will help, too, if you talk to the baby in the presence of the older child about the fine sister she has (even though the baby doesn't understand you).

Third, let the older child have certain duties in connection with the care of the baby, but be certain these duties are pleasant. Find out what she likes to do for the baby and let that be her responsibility.

Spiritual Basis is Topic of Lecture

The spiritual basis of peace will be the topic of a public lecture here next Thursday evening by Harry B. MacRae of Dallas, Texas, Christian Science lecturer.

Mr. MacRae will speak on invitation of Christian Science Society, El Cajon, in Grossmont Union High School Auditorium, at 8 p. m. on Sept. 27th. His topic will be "Christian Science, Bringer of Peace." The general public is invited to attend without charge.

Mr. MacRae became interested in Christian Science in 1913, while in his fourth year of a capacity.

EL CAJON RATTLES SENT TO SOUTH AFRICA

Twelve rattlesnakes are being shipped from El Cajon to Johannesburg, South Africa to help that city clean out rats. Charles W. Kern, the shipper, said the snakes are encased in metal tubes. They are being flown to New York and will go from there by clipper cargo to Johannesburg.

premedical course at the University of Cincinnati, through a healing of his father. He left a business career about 20 years ago to devote his full time to the practice of Christian Science healing. He has been a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship since 1947 and has traveled extensively in that capacity.

Civil Service Short of Manpower

The regional director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission in San Francisco today reported that lack of skilled manpower is seriously impeding the work of various defense agencies in California, Arizona and Nevada. The shortage of Engineers, Draftsmen, Physicists, Chemists, Nurses, IBM Operators and Stenographers is giving the Civil Service Commission a real headache.

Federal civil service examining and referral procedures are currently geared to a rapid pace. In San Francisco, for example, any stenographer found eligible during one of the daily testing periods is usually referred to a government job within 24 hours.

Open Letter

"Editorially Speaking" the caption of the article in the Lakeside Star of September 13, leaves me quite cold. Several weeks ago the purchase of a package of paper napkins (80 to be exact) at a Lakeside grocer cost me $.21. The following day at another grocery store across the street, I paid $.14. A day later I paid $.11 for exactly the same article in El Cajon.

Now, if the above facts can be reconciled to the philosophy so well expressed in the Editorial, please let us know how the Lakeside local merchants can expect co-operative spirit from local residents? It sounds like killing the goose that laid the golden egg. Wake up, Lakeside Chamber of Commerce. A Subscriber.

ber for some civilian goods. Now, who's kidding? The suspicion is that the Senate group was grinding some political axes in their statement. Certainly, it's hard to believe that we're desperately short of rubber. The situation now is not to be compared with that of 1941 when we were totally dependent on natural rubber from overseas. Our synthetic industry can turn out more than one million tons of rubber a year. An investigation by unbiased observers should be made.
